Kate is the founder of Resourceible.com, an online speech therapy resource platform that offers professionals an international marketplace to buy and sell cost-effective digital speech therapy resources. The Resourceible goal is to save time on resource preparation so that more children can access speech therapy.

Kate has also written a clinical book, due for publication in the US and UK by Routledge in January 2024, entitled 'Ultimate Speech Sounds: Eliciting Speech Sounds Using 3D Animation'. Her book features the first child avatar for teaching speech sounds, called DARA® (Digitised Automated Realistic Articulator).

Kate has been accepted into the Dublin New Frontiers programme and is currently working on releasing the DARA® app amongst other exciting projects!
