Sligo
Oyster
Experience

Aisling spent years studying and working abroad before returning to her roots and settling in her hometown, Sligo.

When she returned Aisling opened a café named WB's Coffee House in 2014 located in the premises which used to be the family pub named The Punchbowl opened by her father Kevin in 1968.

Aisling has very fond memories of there as a child and some of the original features of this pub remain here today. The café is situated across from the famous statue of W.B Yeats in Sligo Town on Stephen St which is where the cafes name originates from.

It was when Aisling met her now husband Glenn who is an oyster farmer she was first introduced to oysters and it is from here she developed her love for all things oysters! After almost 4 years in business and bringing all her experience on a professional level and her personal connections together Aisling developed the Sligo Oyster Experience in 2018 after spotting a niche in the market.

As the business grew Aisling struggled with staying on top of the business side of things, but ACORNS helped her stay accountable and reach each goal. Located across on Stephen's Street in Sligo town, WB's Coffee House is thriving, and Aisling now has six full-time and four part-time staff.
