Diletta Panero, who is originally from Cherasco, near Turin in Italy, set up her company in Kinlough, Co Leitrim in 2023, having previously lived in Galway and spent significant time in Spain and Latin America.

With a diverse background spanning from academia to corporate and legal sectors, her career has consistently centred around language and culture. After 15 years of experience in the language industry and a year dedicated to market research and entrepreneurial programmes, she identified an opportunity to improve existing practices, which led her to start trading in January 2024.

DP Language Services aims to create cultural competency by offering in-depth language expertise in Italian, Spanish, and English, with a specialised focus on the cultural landscapes of Ireland, Italy, Spain and Latin America.

The company offers a comprehensive range of services, including training, communication, research, interpreting, translation, and consultancy, each designed to explore language and culture from multiple perspectives.

One of its offerings is the International Relocation Training, which is of particular interest to banks and large companies because they have found that a significant percentage of employees offered opportunities overseas either return prematurely or prefer not to go.

Diletta also offers a course called Practical Irish Living and Cultural Integration, designed to assist government agencies, companies, and individuals relocating to Ireland in accelerating integration processes.

DP Language Services has a team of contractors who Diletta has collaborated with for over 15 years and who she calls in on projects according to client needs.

Diletta says that ACORNS helped her to refine, promote and, where necessary, modify her services and was incredible in terms of support from other participants and their Lead Entrepreneur.

Her plan for the upcoming year is to further establish her presence in Ireland before expanding her services internationally.

Providing early stage female entrepreneurs, living in rural Ireland, with the knowledge, support and networking opportunities to meet and even exceed their current aspirations.
